How to Write a Speech With a collection of Great American Speeches With notes and introduction from Patrick Henry, George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Daniel Webster, Abraham Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt, Franklin K. Lane, & Woodrow Wilson

This collection of Great American Speeches can be used for study or for supplementary reading in classes in both American history and English. The speeches chosen represent rather well-marked periods in our development, or great crises of our social and political advance. The different purposes of the speeches and the dissimilar kinds of material treated provide enough variety to prevent monotony. Every teacher will have an individual method of using this book. The processes of study indicated in the introduction are intended to be merely suggestive. Fuller discussions of the purpose, material, and structure of all kinds of addresses are contained in the editor's Public Speaking.
