No one escapes hell without a burn mark . . .

April wants Joe, a security expert, to help her find a missing woman, former Las Vegas showgirl, Phylly Worth. Tough-minded and loyal, April owes Phylly; years ago she saved her from a hell on earth. Joe owes her zip. Phylly is the mother who abandoned him when he was four years old. Still, when a persuasive and beautiful woman with world-class legs asks for his help, he says yes. The attraction between them is instant, powerful, and distracting--when distraction can be deadly.

It turns out Joe and April aren't the only ones searching for Phylly. And the worst possible thing that can happen is for them to find her.

Joe and April track Phylly from the bright lights of Vegas to the shadows and winds of an island in the far Pacific Northwest. Phylly has led them to a glass house high on a cliff overlooking a turbulent ocean--a glass house where love blooms, secrets are exposed, and people can't hide.

And they've been followed . . .
